A RELEPHANT EVENT

Did you know that elephants are highly sensitive and caring animals? They express grief, compassion, self-awareness, altruism and play. They even mourn when a loved one has passed away.

All these things tell us that elephants are gentle, loving creatures and we should be fully supporting the Elephant Parade when it arrives in Hong Kong on August 1st! The Elephant Parade is a global exhibition that has already stomped their way through many cities such as London and Milan to promote the awareness of elephant conservation.

Designer Yu Jordy Fu created 'Angel' for the Elephant Parade in Hong Kong

The Hong Kong exhibit will showcase over 100 life-sized elephant statues that are hand painted by famed designers and celebrities like Diane von Furstenberg, Donnie Yen and Carrie Chau. 20 of the elephants will then be auctioned with the proceeds going to the Asian Elephant Foundation. The herds will be settling in Pacific Place, Cityplaza and Citygate Outlets throughout next month until 9th September.
