The last day of Arab Fashion Week displayed stunning pieces from international and Arab designers showcasing their ready-couture spring/summer 2016:

RODRIGO OTAZU

Opening the final day, Rodrigo Otazu featured his exquisite designs at Arab Fashion Week. Following his passion for natural style, Otazu oozed radiance and chemistry. It was an opulent and voluptuous collection. The dark colour palette enhanced the elegance in personified silhouettes and promoted the glamour in metallic headpieces and accessories.

YU JORDY FU

Acclaimed designer, architect and artist, Jordy Fu showcased her White Nebula collection for spring/summer 2016 ready-couture. It featured 20 romantic and sculptural dresses. Inspired by the ethereal White Nebula, Jordy Fu took an abstract form, translating luminescent glow and undulating movement. The designer transformed the concept of glistening stars into wearable and distinctive luxury fashion.

GIADA CURTI

Giada Curti showcased an eloquent collection focusing on a vibrant summer pastel palette. Each piece was reminiscent of the style and the sensuality of a bygone era. Crisp white shirts tucked in elongated skirts enhanced the waist line, reflecting intricate techniques. Macreme lace, delicate silk and brocade were featured on shades of fuchsia, turquoise, teal and white.
